

VISUAL GESTURAL COMMUNICATION (VGC)

What is VGC?

Visual Gestural Communication (VGC) is a mode of communication that uses gestures, facial expressions, and body language to express and understand information.

Individuals who are unable to communicate using spoken language such as English, or formal signed language like ASL, are often able to communicate more effectively using natural gestures.

Who Should Attend a VGC Training?

- Case Managers
- DHHS Staff
- Direct Support Staff
- Family Members
- Interpreters
- Members of the Community

VGC is essential for anyone who works or lives with individuals experiencing communication barriers.

How Can I Participate in a Training?

DRM regularly offers VGC trainings at DHHS offices throughout the state. We can also schedule a training to take place at an individual's place of employment or where they live. We can bring the training to you and tailor it to your organization's needs!

VGC TRAININGS ARE FREE!

TO LEARN MORE ABOUT VGC OR TO REQUEST A TRAINING, CONTACT

Michelle Ames

Disability Rights Maine

207.797.7656

207.766.7111 (VP)

mames@drme.org

DISABILITY RIGHTS
MAINE
DEAF SERVICES